WOMAN'S COLLEGE COMMENCEMENT

SCHEDULED FOR MAY 29, 30, 31

Two outstanding speakers will take part in the Commencement activities at Woman's College May 29, 30, and 31.

Dr. J. Harris Purks, Jr., Provost of the Consolidated University of North Carolina, will speak Saturday, May 29, at 2:30 p.m. at the meeting of the General Alumnae Association. Miss Annie Lee Singletary, president, will preside.

The Baccalaureate Sermon on Sunday, May 30, will be delivered by the Right Reverend Matthew George Henry, D.D., Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Western North Carolina.

Alumnae Day, Saturday, will find hundreds of Alumnae from far and near attending reunion luncheons at noon, which have been scheduled for eleven classes and members of The Old Guard.

Plans are being made for a tour of the campus at 10:30

Saturday morning for those who wish to see the new buildings, including new Gove Infirmary, Home Economics building, Nursery School, Library, a residence hall and the new Coleman Gymnasium.

Class Day exercises at 4:30 Saturday on the Front Campus, will be followed by the Alumnae-Faculty supper at the Alumnae House at 6 o'clock, the performance by the Play-Likers at 8:30 in Aycock, and the Senior Ball in Elliott Hall at 9 o'clock.

The program for Sunday includes the baccalaureate service at 11 o'clock in Aycock Auditorium, the Faculty Reception for Seniors, parents, alumnae and friends at five o'clock on the Elliott Hall Terrace, and the concert at 8:30 p.m. in Aycock by the Greensboro Orchestra and the College Choir.

Graduation exercises at 10:30 Monday will conclude the Commencement activities.

Alumna wins $2,000 Literary Prize

By TEMPE HUGHES OEHLER '51

Doris (Waugh) Betts, an alumna of the Class of '54 at Woman's College, was awarded in November the first annual $2,000 fiction prize offered by Putnam's Sons, Publishers, through the University of North Carolina.

Mrs. Betts' collection of short stories, "Gentle Insurrection," will be published by Putnam's in April.

She was one of four Woman's College students to enter the contest.

Judges for the first contest this year were James Street, Chapel Hill novelist; the late Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings, author of "The Sojourner," and Pearl Buck, Nobel prize winner.

The prize is offered each year for the best manuscript, either fiction or non-fiction, by a student at the University, at North Carolina State College, or at Woman's College.

Mrs. Betts is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Waugh of Statesville. She was editor of her high school paper and correspondent for The Greensboro Daily News, and after entering Woman's College became correspondent for the Winston-Salem Journal. She was also on the staff of Corradi, won the sophomore Phi Beta Kappa award for the highest scholastic average in her class, and did self-help work in the News Bureau. She also found time to work from time to time in a dress shop and a jewelry store in Greensboro.

Mother of a four-months-old daughter, Mrs. Betts is taking courses at the University, where her husband is a student, to complete work towards her A.B. degree.

This is Mrs. Betts' second cash prize for her writings. The first, $500, was the collegiate fiction award from Mademoiselle Magazine for a short story, "Mr. Shawn and Father Scott," which appeared in the August issue.

Dr. F. H. McNutt Receives Annual Gardner Award

Dr. Franklin H. McNutt, Professor of Education and Associate Dean of the Graduate School of Woman's College, received the O. Max Gardner Award, March 22, 1954, at the Gardner Dinner in Leager Hall, State College, Raleigh. President Gordon Gray presided at the dinner, which was attended by members of the faculties of the three units.

The award, which includes a citation and a check for several hundred dollars, is made by a provision in the will of the late Governor Oliver Max Gardner. It is given to "that member of the Faculty of the Consolidated University of North Carolina, who, during the current scholastic year has made the greatest contribution to the welfare of the human race. . . ."

Dr. McNutt came to the Woman's College in 1941 as Professor of Education and in 1946 was appointed Associate Dean of the Graduate School. He has been actively associated with civic organizations in Greensboro during the past thirteen years.

The following citation was read by Mr. George Stephens of Asheville, chairman of the trustees committee which selected McNutt for the award:

Franklin Holbrook McNutt all his life has lived up to the mandate of the Master Teacher: "Go and Teach . . ."

Continuously burdened with administrative and public service responsibilities, he has faithfully followed the best traditions as a teacher of teachers . . .

At the Woman's College he has brought a third dimension to the educational processes of North Carolina in the top task of guiding those who teach our teachers.

An illness in his early life left Frank McNutt blessed with a quality not always found in a pedagogue: a soft voice. He always speaks softly, quietly; but his whisper is heard above the turmoil and clamor of educational controversy. When he speaks—especially when he speaks on education—people listen and are apt to be moved by what he says.

Franklin Holbrook McNutt has been adjudged by the unanimous vote of the Board of Trustees to be "that member of the faculty of the Consolidated University of North Carolina who in the current scholastic year has made the greatest contribution to the welfare of the human race."

George M. Stephens for The Trustees' Committee
William B. Umstead
Governor and Chairman of The Board

In accepting the award, Dr. McNutt responded as follows:

A mark of great distinction has just been conferred upon me. Were I to protest my unworthiness unduly, I would do scant honor to the committee that has named me, or to the memory of that great man who conceived and gave substance to this event, or to the living representatives of his distinguished family. I shall, therefore, preserve some sense of proportion and a measure of humility, in the thought that I am merely the fortunate vehicle through which honor is paid our great calling.

The task of selecting a recipient must be most difficult. Where would one begin? Our calling is more than a profession; it is the mother of professions. Without us there could be no physicians, no lawyers, no engineers. Our duties are many; our interests as wide as life itself. We split atoms; we make two blades grow where one grew before; we probe the vast reaches of space; we devise cunning formulae with which to do astonishing things; and down the years reverberate our greater thoughts—thoughts that mark the progress of the human race.

To us come the youth of the land. We prepare them for their chosen work; we try to give them the great insights that enlarge their world; we encourage the responses that ennoble human lives. We keep no union hours. Our doors are open. Through them come the curious, the puzzled, the frightened, and sometimes the sick-at-heart. To the curious we give

The Need for the Spiritual Re-enforcement of the United Nations in its Search for Freedom and Security in the Atomic Age

BY DR. FRANK P. GRAHAM

Editor's Note: The following address was delivered in Elliott Hall at the Woman's College under the sponsorship of the Y.W.C.A., Tuesday, April 13, 1954. Dr. Graham, Chief Mediator of the India-Pakistan Mission of the United Nations, was President of the Consolidated University of North Carolina until March 1949.

The capacity of both the free world and the totalitarian world to destroy the cities and peoples of all continents and the civilization of all ages makes clear the following propositions:

1. A third world war between the two worlds would result in the destruction of both worlds.

2. Either appeasement of aggression or acceptance of the inevitability of a third world war is a step toward a third world war.

3. The co-existence of the two worlds rather than the co-destruction of the two worlds is the present basis for the existence of any world.

4. Pending the self-determination and freedom of all peoples, the free world must be strong in the defensive power, economic well-being and democratic morale of each nation and the willing co-operation of all nations (1) for the defense of the freedom of each nation against aggression by any nation and (2) in support of the United Nations as the best hope for the freedom and peace in the world.

5. The strong free world must take the initiative in the United Nations (1) for universal enforceable disarmament of all weapons of destruction and reduction of all armed forces to a minimum and (2) for co-ordination of larger programs of UN Technical Assistance, Point 4, the Colombo Plan, the Norwegian plan, and all other national, bilateral and multilateral programs for increased production, better health, more education, wider freedom and the higher well-being of all people, East and West, as the enduring basis of justice and peace.

This generation has been involved in one world depression, two world wars, a world revolution, the advent of atomic power, and a world divided over the threat of a global communist dictatorship. The nations of the earth have in our time twice sought to organize the world for freedom, self-determination and peace.

ILLUSIONS OF ISOLATION

After the First World War, the United States, after providing the original leadership, withdrew in isolation, rejected the League of Nations and erected high tariff walls. The tariff barriers piled up surpluses to the damage of the national economy with all its hazards for farmers, workers and businessmen; obstructed trade to the damage of the already stricken world economy; and accelerated the spiraling of income downward and the spiraling of unemployment upward in the vicious circle of the world depression, with all its tragedies for countless millions of people. These millions of human beings had already suffered the tragedies of the First World War. America, whose gallant youth and mighty power had turned the tides of war, withdrew in the peace into isolation and failed the humane hopes of the people of the world.

The American people, in a once splendid isolation between the two wide oceans, for over a hundred years were internally absorbed in the adventure of conquering a wilderness, building a new nation, absorbing the hosts of immigrants, and developing the resources of a vast continent. We had to learn the hard way in the transition from a young nation to an international power, from a debtor nation to the chief creditor among the nations, and from isolation to world leadership. We found that isolation between the two great oceans not only did not provide isolation from the first world war but that the sinking of American ships and the killing of American citizens crossing the free seas involved the nation in a struggle which pulled two million American youth across the wide ocean itself to the world's farthest fronts of war.

For America there is now no isolation from the skies above, the seas around or the continents beyond, or from a world in which America is a most dynamic part. The American people found that in isolating themselves from the League of Nations they did not isolate themselves from the second World War. They learned that it was wiser to join the United Nations and seek, with more effective co-operation on the inside, to prevent the beginning of a third world war than to stay out and, in ineffective isolation, be drawn in after the war starts.

In the Second World War developed the allied strategy and hope that the co-operation of the United Nations, which won the war against fascism, might carry over and win the peace in great moral offensives against poverty, illiteracy, disease, colonialism, armament, tyranny, and war itself. Such is still the faith of the United Nations, struggling tirelessly under heavy loads, and patiently against baffling difficulties, to fulfill the best hope of the people for peace in the world.

After the Second World War the Soviet Union dropped an iron curtain across the vision of a great people, refused to participate in the specialized agencies of the United Nations, and used the veto more than all other members of the Security Council combined. After the First World War it was the United States which gave little or no help to the League of Nations and failed its humane hopes. After the Second World War it was the Soviet Union which often obstructed the procedures of the United Nations and failed its humane hopes. The totalitarian dictatorship instead of being a transition from Czarism to freedom and democracy became a fixation for tyranny and power.

The winning of war against fascism and racism, and, following the war, the liberation of hundreds of millions of people from their long colonialism and the organization of the United Nations for self-determination of peoples and the peace of nations, tragically became for (1) some nations the occasion for more total tyranny and a new and wider imperialism; (2) for some other nations reassertions of an old colonialism; and (3) for some people in our nation the attempts toward the adoption of policies of isolation, high tariffs, less technical assistance for technically backward people, and constitutional limitations of international negotiations and cooperation.

For the sake of freedom, peace and our own self-defense, now is the desperate time for more technical assistance, more trade, more self-determination of peoples, more international negotiations and more multi-lateral cooperation through the United Nations. The struggle must be unceasing for lowering high tariff walls, for raising iron curtains, for universal disarmament, and the pooling of atomic power for humane uses. Without acceptance of the idea of the inevitability of a third world war, without appeasement of tyranny or aggression, we must hold on to the hopes of the reciprocal values of negotiations for some agreements in many areas of disagreement.

THE COMMUNITY OF MAN

In a world divided on the brink of global catastrophe, we need from time to time to see the crises of the day in the perspective of the common heritage and hopes of the human race, the ethical unity of great religious communions, the oneness of human freedom and peace, and the oneness of man's high survival and humane progress on the earth.

The 460,000,000 people of the United States, who are derived from all races and regions, and who live on a rich continent connected by the seaways, airways and airwaves with all continents and all peoples, are an inter-dependent part of the 2,400,000,000 human beings who inhabit man's home on the earth. More than half the earth's people live in Asia and two hundred million more live in Africa. Much more than half of the people of the earth are colored. All people, brown, red, black, yellow and white, have in common a biological inheritance of hundreds of millions of years, hundreds of thousands of years as primitive man and only a comparatively few thousands of years as self-conscious personalities in human history.

One of the heavy obstructions to the high morale of a common front of freedom against totalitarian tyranny today is the resentment of hundreds of millions of the earth's colored peoples of ancient and high civilization against the idea of the innate superiority of white people whose present superior mastery of science and the modern technical arts provide the resources, engines, wealth and the cultural conditions of a higher standard of living, and the knowledge, technology, logistics and arms of dominant power.

Despite the almost timeless depth of the common basic inheritance of human beings, with all racial and individual differences, and despite the recent scientific, anthropological and historical knowledge of the preconceptions of innate racial superiority, racial tensions still develop. The degrees of these racial antagonisms are in proportion to (1) the visibility of racial differences, (2) the numbers of the different people involved, (3) their differences in social environment, economic opportunities and cultural resources, and (4) the competition for jobs between the low income groups of the different races.

Ford Fellowships Granted to Two Woman's College Teachers

Two members of the Woman's College faculty, Dr. William R. Barrett and Dr. J. Benjamin Townsend, have been awarded Ford fellowships for the 1954-1955 academic year.

Dr. Barrett, head of the Department of German, will use his fellowship to make a study of teaching methods in the humanities program at the University of Chicago and to take some courses in the arts and humanities curricula.

Dr. Townsend, assistant professor of English, will go to Princeton University to study the relationship of the Fine Arts to literature, with particular reference to three areas of academic responsibility—planning, teaching, and scholar research. His special project is a study of art criticism during the end of the 19th and the first quarter of this century.

A graduate of The Citadel, Dr. Barrett received the master of arts and the doctor of philosophy degrees from Duke University. Before coming to Woman's College in 1948 he was an instructor at the University of North Carolina.

Dr. Townsend taught at Yale University from 1947 until he came to Woman's College last fall. He is a graduate of Princeton, received his master of arts degree from Harvard, and received the doctorate from Yale.

During the past three years five other members of the Woman's College faculty have received Ford Fellowships.

College Graduate Birth Rate Reaches New Peak

The collegiate class of 1943 is prolific. The long decline in the family size of college-educated parents seems to be halted. 1943 reports the largest families they have yet recorded 10 years after graduation, according to the directors of the College Project of the Population Reference Bureau. '43's record number of children tops the steady climb during the past 8 years of a study which counted alumnar births in the 10 years after graduation. Over 16,000 men and women of the class of 1943, now celebrating their 10th college reunion, are able to boast of 48 per cent more offspring apiece than could their brother and sister graduates of the class of 1936.

The trend is definitely UP, and is a complete reversal of the pattern set during recent decades by college graduates, whose completed families fell far below the replacement level. In the 10 years since leaving college, '43 graduates have almost equalled the average family size of the class of 1928, 25 years after graduation.

This is news, because it upsets the applecart of the gloomy predictions based on the sparse families of earlier graduates. This is good news, for "college babies" are an important source of the next generation.

The Population Reference Bureau's 8th year of study of the birth rate of college graduates has just been compiled, under the direction of Dr. Clarence J. Gamble and Mrs. Betty U. Kibbee of Milton, Mass., where the College Project is conducted. (The Bureau is a non-profit educational organization with headquarters in Washington, D. C.) This past winter 16,000 men and women of the class of 1943 from 179 American colleges were polled as to their reproductive accomplishments. They reported the record 10-years-later high of 1.63 babies per alumnus and 1.30 per alumna. This increase from the 1.02 per man and .95 per woman of '36, similarly counted during their 10th year graduation, tops a steady climb during the 8 years of the Bureau's study of graduates' births, and places 1943 well ahead of any of the classes recently reviewed in their 10th reunion year.

Top honors go to small colleges, located in the West and South. Among the 1943 male graduates reporting from 129 colleges, those of Northwest Nazarene College with 2.58 offspring each rank first; graduates of Saint Mary's College in Minnesota are next with 2.50 children each; and alumni of Brigham Young University, Utah, are third with 2.38.

Among the 140 classes of women of 1943 reporting, those of Saint Mary's College, Notre Dame, Indiana with 2.18 children have the highest score; those of Southwestern University, Texas, with 2.15 children per alumna are second; and alumnae of Westmar College, Iowa, with 2.12 are third. Four of these are co-educational.

Some notable scores were turned in by the men of '43 from South Dakota State College with 2.06 offspring apiece, from Loyola University of the South and Southern Methodist University tying with 1.85, from Occidental, Cal., with 1.79 and from the University of Wyoming with 1.76. Slightly lower are the men from the University of Idaho with 1.73 children each; Rutgers University with 1.62; Holy Cross with 1.58, and Harvard University, 1.34. Among the women of the class, Mills, Cal., alumnae can boast of an average of 1.95 children apiece, with those from Sweet Briar, Va., nearly equalling them with an average of 1.93. There are 1.47 babies per alumna of Skidmore, N. Y.; 1.21 per woman of '43 from Woman's College, U. of N. C., and 1.41 reported by the Pennsylvania College for Women.

Marriage is still a popular institution, according to the figures just compiled by the Bureau, for only 12 per cent of the men graduating in 1943 have remained bachelors. A few more women—26 per cent of the alumnae to be exact—appear to have preferred the spinster role so far. 85 per cent of the married men have become fathers, and 83 per cent of the wives now double in the role of mothers.

The marked increase in the family size of recent college classes is all the more striking when compared with the reports from the class of 1928, whose families are virtually complete. Twenty-five years after graduation, in many colleges the average number of children for '28 graduates falls below that for '43, just ten years out. Reports of the number of children just received from 12,000 members of the class of 1928 give an average of but 1.97 children per alumnus and only 1.24 per alumna. Since the Bureau estimates that 2.1 children per graduate are needed for replacement, these men of '28 are failing to reproduce themselves by 6 per cent and the women by 41 per cent. If these figures are typical, the 111,000 individuals who graduated from college in 1928 in the United States will bequeath to the next generation only 89,000 children.

The winner among the colleges where the class of 1928 was reviewed this past year is Brigham Young University, Utah, where the alumni of the class reported 3.96 children apiece. The most productive alumnae surveyed are from Southern Methodist University, Texas, with 2.75 offspring apiece.

Art Professor Receives Fulbright Fellowship

A Woman's College art instructor, Willard E. Barchenger, plans to find out during the coming year how the Finns produce their remarkable works of interior design.

Granted a Fulbright fellowship which will permit him to study at the Institute of Applied Arts in Helsinki, Finland, beginning August 16, Barchenger will study the Finnish approach to interior design as compared to that of the United States.

Finland has made important contributions to contemporary art through such artists as Alvor Alto, Elna Kiljander, Artu Brummer, and Margaret Nordman in furniture, Saarinen and Alto in architecture; Dora Jung Laila Karthunen and Eva Anttila in textiles, and Tapio Wirkala and Gunnell Myman in glassware, and Kurt Ekholm, Kaipainen, and Schilkin in ceramics. Their work has been admired throughout the world and Barchenger intends to study their approach and methods.

While in Finland he also will make a study of the country's art galleries and the evolution of painting and sculpture of Finland.

Mr. Barchenger, himself an accomplished designer and artist-craftsman, is a native of Bismark, North Dakota, and a graduate of the University of Washington.

guidance; to the puzzled, insight; to the frightened, a courage we often do not possess ourselves; and to the sick-at-heart, the balm of philosophy or perhaps religion—that universal solvent of human difficulties.

How then can a committee choose among the practitioners of such varied arts? Though the task is difficult, a choice must be made. This year honor is done our teaching function. I am happy to represent you in this, our chief function. I am proud of our calling and would not exchange the title "Teacher" for any the world has to offer.

So again I thank our unseen host, Oliver Max Gardner, whose presence here I seem to feel, and that great lady who is his wife, and these distinguished guests, and you, fellow teachers, all who are gathered here to do me honor and through me honor to the greatest calling in the world.

This is the second time the Gardner Award has come to a member of the Woman's College Faculty. Miss Louise Alexander, acting head of the History Department, received it in 1949.

Danforth Fellowship is Awarded to Emily Butner

Emily Butner, Woman's College senior from Winston-Salem, has been awarded a Danforth Fellowship, one of 18 given each year and valued at $1,600, for a year of graduate study.

In addition to graduate study, the fellowship provides for a five-weeks training course at Camp Miniwanca, Mich., beginning in August.

Miss Butner, president of the Woman's College Student Government, was Freshman Class president, Junior house president, and a member of Golden Chain honor society.

Need for Spiritual Re-enforcement of United Nations

The enduring solution of the problem of the races is in education and religion which work the changes in the ideas and mores of the people. The teachings of our religion, the principles of our democracy and the findings of science, while recognizing variations and differences in races and individuals, make more and more for the acceptance in wider and wider areas by increasing numbers of people of the ideas and practice of equal civil and political liberties, economic and educational opportunity, justice under law, and respect for the human dignity of people, regardless of race, color, creed or economic status. The findings of scientific and social studies and their transmission to successive youthful generations develop the genuine appreciation of (1) the common heritage and hope of the human race, (2) the different but high achievements of individuals of all races, (3) the rich exchange values of the high cultures of diverse races, and (4) the oneness of the freedom, well-being and peace of all nations.

THE COMMUNITY OF FAITH, EAST AND WEST

Before the age of the atomic power H. G. Wells envisaged the fateful destiny of mankind in the race between education and catastrophe. In this age when atomic power is loaded with either the doom or the hope of our civilization, the humane enlightenment through education needs to be undergirded by the spiritual power of religion. Education in the consciousness of the community of man needs the spiritual re-enforcement of the community of faith for transcendence of the bitter antagonism of race and for the translation of the power struggles of governments into the co-operation of nations in the spirit of the great religions in their community of faith in one God and the brotherhood of all people.

In expression of the inward spiritual urge, in the need and yearning for love, justice, and mercy, in the unfolding of man's consciousness of God, in a sense of man's inadequacy, and in the realization of the higher self in other selves, great religions and ethical systems developed among people in wide regions in the East and West. The West is in debt to the East as the birthplace of all the great religions. Above profound differences and anachronisms there emerged and survived, as treasurer of the human spirit, ethical principles common to Hinduism, Judaism, Zoroastrianism, Confucianism, Taoism, Shintoism, Buddhism, Islam and Christianity.

The cultures cradled on the Nile, between the Euphrates and the Tigris, in the Indo-Gangetic plain and Peninsula India, between the Yangtze Kiang and the Hwang Ho, in the Graeco-Roman world, in Islam across the middle of the earth from the Atlantic to Indonesia, and in the Mediterranean - European - American West, became in their interaction and organic growth the substance and process of the civilization of the past which lives in the present. The Upanishads and Bhagavad-Gita of the Hindus, the Zend Avesta of the Parsees, the ethical sayings of Confucius, the humane teachings of Buddha, the Koran of Muhammad, the Bible of the Jews and Christians belong to the ages, Moses, Ashoka, Socrates, Saint Francis, Florence Nightingale, Abraham Lincoln, Pasteur, Tolstoi, Sun Yat Sen and Gandhi express the timelessness of the dignity of man, the moral law, the noble aspirations of the human spirit and the humane heroism of our common humanity.

For erasing God from the human consciousness and for subjugating the spiritual conception of life, the ethical teachings of religion, the meaning of the moral law, the dignity and freedom of the individual, and the self-determination of people, there has arisen the fanatical dogmatism and aggressive despotism of the religion of materialistic totalitarian communism. The rich legacies in religion, philosophy, the arts, science and technology, variously inherited from the Eastern-Asiatic-African-Mediterranean and from the Judaic-Christian-Graeco-Roman-European-British-American people, are the different and yet common spiritual sources of the humane hope and moral dynamic of the global democratic front against the totalitarian materialism and despotism of the police state. As a reciprocal and re-enforcing part of the community of man and the community of faith, this Western community, wisely organized by the Rio Pact and the Atlantic Pact, reaches from the shores of the eastern Mediterranean across Europe, the Atlantic and the two Americas to the shores of the wide Pacific. This community of the West shares the Judaic-Christian-Graeco-Roman-European-British-American heritage. The robust growth of the spiritual heritage of the West, out of which basically came modern democracy, had its deep rootage in the East. The currents of indigenous democratic revolutions, which in late decades have swept across Asia, had some of their most resurging headwaters in Europe and America.

The Western people look eastward in both fear and hope as to whether the great Eastern peoples either will renounce their spiritual heritage for the quick promise of the totalitarian police state or will make the difficult but hopeful struggle of the free human spirit for a synthesis of the best of the ancient heritage and the highest values of modern science and technology in the great adventure of democracy for the individual liberty and well-being of all people. The Eastern peoples look westward in both fear and hope to see whether the American people will either in fear of freedom renounce their freedom or carry on the difficult struggle to fulfill their democratic hope which was born of spiritual faith and the American dream.

The American people, in one of the fateful transitions of history, are being tested before the world as to the worthiness of their leadership of the West toward the community of man and the community of faith. The relation of religions and races, the integrity, freedom and dignity of individuals, the abundant enterprise and co-operation of creative groups for the general welfare, the equal opportunity of people in education, health, politics, work, worship and the highest expressions of the human spirit, are the promise of life in America, now a strategic proving ground of the meaning and the destiny of freedom in the modern world.

At no time and place have any people had a more strategic opportunity to make a demonstration of the values of the struggle of freedom and programs of democracy for the community of America, the community of man and the community of faith.

BEGIN AT HOME IN RELIGION AND RACE

Let us begin at home. As human beings may we grow in appreciation of all races and the spiritual aspirations of all peoples. As Christians let us in good spirit give up the policy of the segregation of believers in the churches of Christ. As citizens may we accept decisions of the United States Supreme Court toward more equal educational opportunity of all peoples as the law of the land in the states as well as in the nation. No more loyal Americans worked and fought for America and human freedom than the Negroes in two world wars and in Korea. As Americans may we grow in our sense of debt to Jews, Catholics and Protestants. The National Conference of Christians and Jews, made up of Jews, Catholics and Protestants, is blazing a trail for appreciation of the universal values in all religious communions without compromise of the convictions of any faith.

Despite religious wars, inquisitions, bigotries, persecutions, sanctions of injustice, betrayals and frustrations in the long centuries, the churches have been for the longest time the most beneficent organizations in Western history.

THE JEWS

We need from time to time to be reminded that the Jews gave us the conception of one God, the moral law, the progressive revelation of God in the faith, prophetic insights and continuing experience of a great people. The old and the new prophets of Judaism still speak for personal goodness and against social injustice with a spiritual power which exalts the moral wisdom and humane hopes of a hundred generations above the sophistication of any one generation. In their survival across the cruel centuries in spite of the bigotry of religion, the tyranny of states, the persecutions of society, the fury of Nazi racialism and the Communist materialism, the Jews, with their faith in God, are enduring witnesses of moral power in the affairs of men and nations. Judaism, as the foundations of the two world religions, Christianity and Islam, is itself one of the sanctuaries of the human spirit for the triumph of the moral law over the tyranny of the police state.

THE CATHOLICS

It was the Catholics, who from Judaic foundations carried to the world the message of the incarnation of the love of God in Jesus and His universal compassion for the redemption of all men. The first little congregations of lowly believers, unbroken in faith, triumphed over ostracism, dungeons, torture and the beasts of the arena, grew into the church universal as the spiritual refuge of heroism and hope of the people in dark times. The sackable city of Rome became the unsackable City of God. The church, while affected with some of the obscurantism of the disintegration of the Roman Empire, kept the lamp of learning burning in the Dark Ages. The church taught the northern barbarians at a level necessarily much lower than the high level of the ancient learning, and helped the reintegration of western Europe in the spiritual dominions of the faith and authority of the Roman Catholic Church. Within the Catholic dominions developed the English Parliament, the Gothic cathedrals, the European universities and the scholastic synthesis of the Judaic-Christian faith and the Graeco-Roman learning, all of which still tower across the centuries and the continents as among the noblest expressions of the human spirit. In a world of peril today, the Catholic men and women of mission and mercy, who carry the cross far and near with its call to compassion and heroism in the sharing and giving of life, are a resource of spiritual faith and moral valor against the dialectic materialism of totalitarian despotism.

THE PROTESTANTS

The Protestants, in the development of their revolt against the Church, emphasized the right of private judgment and the freedom of the individual, both in his direct communion with God and in his interpretation of the scriptures as above the authority of kings or bishops or the Councils of men. In the interaction between the forces of the Renaissance, the Commercial Revolution, the rising national state and the Catholic Reformation, Protestantism is a part of the efflorescence of the human spirit which was both a flowering of the medieval and the fresh seeds of the modern age. To the revival of original manuscripts, both classical and scriptural, to the exploration of the new earth by Columbus, da Gama and Magellan, of the new heavens by Copernicus and the new anatomy by Vesalius, and to the worldwide exchange of goods and ideas with their fresh energies of mind and spirit, the Renaissance and the Reformation gave another expression to the already rising individualism which in learning, religion, politics, science and business enterprise became a precious part of the heritage of freedom.

Luther's ninety-five theses nailed on the church door at Wittenberg, his refusal, with his life at stake, to recant his individual interpretation, and his declaration at the Imperial Diet of Worms "Here I stand so help me God, I can do no other" were birthcries of Protestantism. In many forms Protestantism spread across western and northern Europe, the British dominions and the American states with a spiritual dynamic and democratic value imperilled around the earth today. The "dissidence of dissent," which was a theme of the eloquent appreciation by Edmund Burke of the American spirit of liberty, is still a spiritual resource of freedom in our time.

Judaism, Catholicism and Protestantism as expressions of the vigor and variety of religious differences have, in their great Hebraic-Christian heritage and hope, a common cause, under God, in the purposes of the United Nations for brotherhood and peace on earth.

THE COMMUNITY OF FAITH FOR THE COMMUNITY OF AMERICA TOWARD A COMMUNITY OF MAN IN THE UNITED NATIONS

The community of heroic spirits who, with their youthful lives, held the passes of freedom down the centuries and across the earth from Thermopylae to the hills of Korea, call for the spiritual muster of the community of faith to reinforce the moral power of the United Nations so that freedom will live through the co-operation of nations in peace rather than the death of youth in war.

In order that the United Nations in this divided and broken world develop through a community of faith into a community of man it is timely in a desperate age that the peoples of the earth, whether Hindus, Buddhists, Sikhs, Confucianists, Shintoists, Muslims, Parsees, Jews or Christians, should, as suggested in many lands, reassert much of the common spiritual heritage and ethical faith against totalitarian tyranny, outmoded colonialism, national isolationism, racial domination and economic exploitation of any people.

You have heard that the United Nations is a sounding board for propaganda and mainly a talking society. Yet it is only in the United Nations that the propaganda and counter-propaganda rampant in the world have to run the gauntlet of surveys, cross-examinations, debates and the votes of 60 nations as the moral judgment of mankind. It is better that the delegates of 60 nations shout at each other in the forum of the world than that 60 million youth shoot at each other in the battlefields of the earth.

Above the tumult of the times the United Nations is quietly carrying on the "moral equivalent" of a world-wide war against poverty, hunger, illiteracy, disease, discriminations, armaments and war itself. The United Nations has helped scores of millions of colonial peoples to achieve their own freedom and has helped to cool off a half dozen hot spits on the earth where any one of the local fires might have become a global conflagration.

The nations encompassed by a world-wide mechanical-economic framework, which catches up in its dynamic interdependence a depression or a war anywhere and involves in tragedy human beings everywhere, need the international framework, agencies and work of the United Nations as the chief hope of peace in the world. Standing on the brink of the catastrophe of a divided world with an atomic bomb in its bosom, the nations cannot lag in the efforts for the mastery of this power loaded with either the doom of self-annihilation or the hope of creative cooperation in building a freer and fairer world for all people.

In the evolution of states from the city-states and empire-states of the ancient and medieval ages to the nation-states of the modern age, the crucial problem now arises as to whether the next transition will be from the nation-states either to an imperial world-police-state or to a more effective cooperation of nation-states in the United Nations for freedom, self determination, and peace.

Both the dynamic industrial-economic framework flung around the earth and the hopeful framework of the United Nations reaching around this globe need to be undergirded by a world-wide spiritual community of the religions, races, regions, colors, and cultures of all the peoples of the earth. Before it is too late there should be a spiritual mobilization of the faith and hopes of all the great religious communions so that the universal yearning of the peoples for peace shall transform the high potentials of the work for war into the cooperation of peoples in peace for more abundant production, more equal opportunity, and the freedom to struggle for the higher freedom of truth, goodness and beauty in expression of the humane and spiritual aspiration of all people East and West.

Without appeasement of injustice and aggression and against the acceptance of the inevitability of a third world war, the Y. W. C. A., in this noble college as a temple of freedom, we trust, re-enlists in the high adventure toward the community of man and the community of faith through a more effective cooperation of nations in a more adequate United Nations for more inclusive collective security of freedom, justice and peace.

Across two thousand years and above the fears and tumult of the times we hear a voice saying, "Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid"; "Our Father, give us this day our daily bread"; "Man cannot live by bread alone"; "I and the Father are one and ye are my brethren"; "Know the truth and the truth shall make you free"; "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me"; "I am come that you might have life and have it more abundantly"; "He that loses his life shall find it".

Son of man and son of God, he lived as the son of man who often had not where to lay his head, taught the life of love, justice, freedom and peace, preached the gospel to the poor and all people, fed the hungry, ministered to the sick of body and mind, held that institutions were made for man and not man for institutions, associated with publicans and sinners, drove the commercial exploiters of religion from the temple and yet is the Prince of Peace, shared the joys and sorrows of the people, suffered and died on the cross for the sins of men, triumphed over death, rose from the dead in spiritual power, and, with the indwelling of God's Holy Spirit in the hearts of men, worketh for the saving of persons and the saving of nations under the Fatherhood of one God and the brotherhood of all people.

Julia Barrett '42, Placement Officer at Woman's College, will conduct a Lola Wolfe Tour to Europe during July and August. Plans include visits to England, France, Italy, Switzerland, Belgium and Holland.

The tour is designed particularly for college students, leaving New York July 6 and returning August 27.

Alumnae Chapters . . .

Atlanta, Ga.

JANUARY MEETING

The Atlanta Chapter of Woman's College Alumnae met on January 14, 1954 at the home of Catherine (Yoe) Widerquist '46 with thirteen members present.

Plans for the Fashion Show Tea, which will take place on March 6 at Pace's Ferry Tower, were discussed. Catherine (Yoe) Widerquist '46 and Theo (Elliott) Taylor '48 are co-chairmen for the project.

New copies of the roll of the chapter were distributed and addresses were brought up to date.

FEBRUARY MEETING

The Atlanta Chapter of Woman's College Alumnae met on Thursday, February 25 at the home of Mary Lou (Mackie) Bryant '42.

The main business of the meeting was to hear reports and make final plans for the Fashion Show Tea on March 6. Evelyn (Cavileer) Bash '36, Ticket Chairman; Mary Lou (Mackie) Bryant '42, Favors Chairman; and Mildred Miller '35, Door Prize Chairman, reported on the progress they had made.

The chapter accepted the invitation of Ann (Braswell) Rowe '41, to hold the next regular meeting at her home.

The meeting adjourned, to meet at the tea at Pace's Ferry Restaurant.

Baltimore, Md.

A group of Woman's College Alumnae in the Baltimore area met on January 20 at the home of Mrs. Robert C. Johnson (Juliana Hanks '44). A movie of the college was shown and material from the college was on display. Mrs. Donald K. Robertson (Anna Medford '43) was in charge of arrangements and the group made plans for another meeting in the near future.

Columbia, S. C.

President, Mrs. F. D. Owen (Elizabeth Glascock '28).

Vice-President, Mrs. Harold Sinclair (Mary Frances Sutton '45).

Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Wm. C. Call (Sara Anderson '31).

FIRST MEETING, 1953-1954

The Columbia chapter of the alumnae of W.C.U.N.C. has held two meetings this year.

The first was on Tuesday, November 24, 1953, with Mrs. Oren Long (Lucille Sharpe '32). Mrs. Guy Meares (Roberta Jordan '30) was co-hostess. The president, Mrs. F. D. Owen (Elizabeth Glascock '28) presided.

Mrs. Long and Mrs. Owen gave a report on the dinner meeting at the Columbia Country Club. Our group met with the alumni of the University of North Carolina.

This meeting was a "get-together" one in the form of a "pep" rally and dinner dance just before the annual U.N.C.-U.S.C. football game. It was a social one with husbands and wives present, patterned after the one we initiated last year when Mr. W. D. "Billy" Carmichael spoke to the combined groups of W.C.U.N.C., U.N.C., and State College.

After the report by Mrs. Long and Mrs. Owen, various plans for raising money were discussed. The decision was to hold a white elephant sale at our second meeting.

Following those discussions, instead of a program, a book sale was held. The books were auctioned for fifty cents each, bringing a total of six dollars. At the completion of the sale the hostesses served tea, sandwiches, and delicious cookies.

SECOND MEETING, 1953-1954

The Columbia chapter held its second meeting of the year on Monday, February 22, 1954, at the home of Mrs. Harry Winders (Jean Kinsey '40). Mrs. J. R. Clark, Jr. (Serena Riser '43), and Miss Emily Cate ('26) were co-hostesses.

Mrs. Harold Sinclair (Mary Frances Sutton '45), vice-president, conducted the meeting. The minutes of the first meeting and the treasurer's report were given and approved.

Then followed a spirited and lengthy discussion on the proposed changes in the group's constitution. These are to be presented and voted on at the next meeting.

At present we have only three officers: president, vice-president and secretary-treasurer. A nominating committee composed of Mrs. Harry Winders (Jean Kinsey '40), Mrs. Edwin Green (Alice Fulton '32), and Miss Emily Cate ('26) was appointed. They were instructed to nominate a separate secretary and treasurer. They are also to nominate a scholarship chairman.

The specific duties of each new officer is to be explained to all of us before their installation at our May meeting. The May meeting will be at the home of Mrs. H. V. Cunningham (Carolyn Willis '41) in the form of a covered dish supper.

A group picture was made of the members holding some of the articles for the white elephant sale. Mary Frances Sutton Sinclair (Mrs. Harold '45) was in her element as auctioneer.

The sale totaled eight dollars. This, added to the six dollars from our book sale of the previous meeting makes a total of fourteen dollars which was sent to W.C.U.N.C. Student Aid Fund.

Mrs. Harry Winders (Jean Kinsey '40) and Mrs. J. R. Clark, Jr. (Serena Riser '43) presented a musical contest. The prize was won by Elizabeth Lauchridge ('46) for her perfect score.

Delicious refreshments of cherry punch, sandwiches, and decorated cakes suggestive of George Washington's birthday were served from a beautifully appointed table in a red, white, and blue color scheme.

Sara (Anderson) McCall '31,
Secretary-Treasurer.

Bertie and Hertford Counties

On Wednesday, December 2, the Woman's College Alumnae of Bertie and Hertford Counties met for a dinner meeting at the Duke of Windsor Hotel at Windsor. Miss Marion Sifford '53, assistant to Dean Katherine Taylor, was guest speaker and showed colored movies of college activities.

In charge of arrangements for the meeting were Mrs. R. A. Holloman (Anna Higgs Griffith '29), Mrs. H. M. Bell, Jr. (Clara Bond '47), and Mrs. R. P. Widmer (Betty Steinhart '29).

Gaston County

Mr. A. C. Hall of the Woman's College English Department was the principal speaker when the Gaston County Chapter held a dinner meeting on Tuesday, November 24, at the Masonic Temple in Gastonia. Miss Marion Sifford '53, assistant to Dean Katherine Taylor, was also a guest and showed colored movies of the College. Mrs. Julius T. Sanders (Mary Clare Stokes '36) was in charge of arrangements.

Harnett County

The Harnett County Chapter of the Woman's College Alumnae met on Monday, November 30, at the Woman's Club in Dunn at 8 o'clock. Miss Marion Sifford '53 was guest speaker and showed colored movies of the College. Miss Rachel Clifford '20 and Mrs. B. C. Pridgen (Mary Frances Draughan '29) made the arrangements for the meeting.

Pasquotank County

On Thursday, December 3, the Pasquotank Chapter of the Woman's College Alumnae Association held a dinner meeting at the Virginia Dare Hotel in Elizabeth City. After a welcome from the chairman, Mrs. Julian Aydtlett (Dorothy Brock '40), a delicious turkey dinner was served to the 20 members present.

During the business session of the meeting, the following officers were chosen to serve for the next two years: Chairman, Mrs. Eugene Sharber (Beulah Stout '28), Vice-chairman, Mrs. Dan Williams (Lillian Twiford '30), and Secretary, Mrs. Harry Brown.

Miss Marion Sifford '53, assistant to Dean Katherine Taylor, was the speaker for the evening. She brought greetings from the College and the Alumnae Association and explained the new Alumnae Fund. She then spoke informally of the affairs of the College and showed a movie.

The group joined in singing the College Song, after which the meeting was adjourned.

A Tribute . . .

by Virginia Terrell Lathrop

We were all saddened by the death of Matilda (Lattimore) Morris on January 7, 1954. We have been very fortunate in the Class of 1923 to have lost so few of our members. Matilda is only the fourth, I think, of the 123 of us who were graduated together. Her death has brought back many memories of years together on the campus.

She was an integral part of college life brimming with enthusiasm, friendliness, and personality. From the beginning of our freshman year she entered into every activity. She was particularly active in the Dikean Society, serving in a number of offices, and finally, in her senior year as president. She was in the Glee Club, was on the hockey team, was a marshal, and did outstanding work as a reporter on the Carolinian and as a member of the Quill Club. Her talents were wide—music, writing, athletics, and so outstanding was she as a leader that she was elected to charter membership in Tau Pi Delta, the honor society which preceded Golden Chain.

Matilda's service continued after she was graduated. She went to Columbia for a master's degree in history, and taught for several years in Belmont and Shelby, her hometown. She married, and had one daughter, Sue Brevard, who was graduated last year, on the 30th anniversary of our own graduation. We were all happy that Matilda could be at our reunion luncheon and at Sue Brevard's graduation.

Matilda was active in all phases of community life in Shelby until her illness which started about ten years ago. She was on the library board, in the P.-T.A., a busy member of a study group, and a loyal worker in her church.

There are so many things we like to remember about Matilda—most of all her bubbling, happy approach to living. Every minute was filled to the brim for her always.

I see a lot of her and her handsome American Airlines pilot husband. They were married in Tokyo, Japan, and their apartment is one of the most attractive I have seen. The beautiful oriental curios, masks, and paintings they brought home with them fit into contemporary decoration and living with beautiful ease. I am just fascinated with the Southwest, and amazed at how much it is actually like what I had pictured. There's nothing as exciting as a rodeo, unless it's a bull fight. And as far as my job is concerned, Neiman-Marcus, I'm convinced, is the most exciting place a person interested in fashion could work."

Letter from Susan Debnam '50

After spending fourteen wonderful months in Japan, I left on the morning of October 29 for Ye Ole Frozen Chosen (Korea) dressed in the latest "straight-from-Paris" fashions—one lovely set of OD fatigues (too big, too long, and too baggy), one pair of nurses "combat" boots (too big, too heavy, and much too squeaky), one regulation Army OD field coat that amazingly enough fit fairly decently, and one slightly used fatigue cap that forgot that my ears were there for the sole purpose of holding it up! Taking full advantage of Air Force transportation and Army Orders (which I promptly lost before boarding the plane in Japan), I flew, Mae West, parachute, and all, from Japan to Seoul, . . . took a short

6-hour self-directed tour of the ROK capital, . . . snapped pictures like mad, . . . met General Hull as he roared in from Japan on his be-e-u-tiful Constellation, . . . smiled my very best Woman's College smile at the Air Force sergeant at the booking counter and got myself a space on a plane headed for Pusan where I was to report in. This I did, much to the consternation of all, since I wasn't due for two more days (had I only known). Having lost my orders, I was stuck in Pusan for about a week while the very nice and helpful co-pilot of my plane from Japan located my orders and sent them over. I soon discovered that most of what people say about Korea is true and that the "Airwick" people could make a fortune over here. But on to my travels—it wasn't long before I was gently informed that I was being sent (in exile, some say) to that remote, but ACTIVE command, Koje-do, the former Prisoner of War island. So, at 6 o'clock one fine morning (government transportation leaves at only one time—early) I found myself cruising along the Sea of Japan for points South, had a fine trip, only woman on the ship, and not one touch of seasickness.

I arrived on Koje-do a wee bit weary, but anxious to take a gander at this place that everyone avoided as much as possible, and was met at the Outport by six girls already stashed away down here. Well, all I have to say is—Wow! You've heard of this Paradise Island they're always talking about? Well, here we sit, seven American women surrounded by water, Koreans, and ten thousand men! Of course, if you stop and think about this, you will realize the many disadvantages of such a situation, but honestly, all of us feel that almost everyone on the island has taken it upon himself to see that we are well taken care of, comfortable, and as happy as possible. Thus we lead a very sheltered life most of the time, and a rather amusing one at times. Living conditions aren't bad—cold weather and cold dripping showers (wouldn't know what to do if I saw a bathtub), outdoor jons, and a daily hassle with space heaters. But other than that, it's real fine. Sometimes we feel like Girl Scouts on a field trip (RA Camp was never like this). Actually, the longer we stay here, the more we learn to love it.

I have never had so much to do, worked harder, or longer hours, and enjoyed it so completely. In case there's someone who doesn't know, I'm what is locally known as a DAC, or Department of Army Civilian (or Darn Army Clown) and various other things I don't care to relate. I plan the recreation and entertainment for the enlisted men on their off-duty hours. Since there is absolutely nowhere else for them to go and nothing else for them to do, it makes our work that much more a vital part of their lives over here and very much a challenge to us. There are a terrific number of trials, tribulations, and heartaches connected with club work, but the satisfaction, the rewards, the wonderful feeling of accomplishment make up for all of them!

With the coming of the first of April comes the termination of my tour in the Far East, so I'll be home-ward bound. The way I figure it, I'll be AT HOME to everyone during May, June and July. Hope to see everyone then. And I'll be there with bells on for the fifth reunion of the Class of '50.

(Nancy Blanton)
613 Marcella Drive
Green Acres
Kinston, N. C.

Mary Andrews is teaching at the University of Minnesota.

Margaret (Bentley) Barbour teaches the eighth grade, Summer School, near Greensboro. Her husband is a salesman for Guyan Eagle Coal Company, Greensboro.

Betty Grey Billings is a dietitian at Duke Hospital.

A letter from Nancy (Blanton) Smith: "Everytime I go downtown here in Kinston, I find further reason to thank my lucky stars for the Woman's College. I thought I was going to be all alone in Kinston, not know anyone, that is, but every time I walk down the street, I bump head on into at least one person I have known at W. C. Or sometimes I feel collegiate and throw on my beat up old red jacket (by the way, it's pretty hard to feel collegiate pushing a baby stroller, but possible) and any number of Alumnae will stop and chat, or at least comment on the insignia on the pocket. The other day I ran into Ann Winslow '51, who is teaching at the high school here and that collision touched off a chain reaction. Through her I heard from Jane (McDaniel) Boone, Mary Grace Grady, Micky Sugg Mullikan and several others. Soon after we moved to Kinston, Cindy and I were out looking the town over, and I spotted a red jacket from the back. Being sort of conceited about the whole thing, I naturally assumed it was a W. C. '51 jacket. Sure enough, it was Jo (Sides) Jennings out working on the lawn and shrubbery of her new home."

Margie (Buck) Hornaday does secretarial work in Columbia, S. C., where her husband is stationed with the U. S. Army.

Nancy (Burton) Hockett is teaching physical education, Auburn, Ala. Her husband is attending Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

Carroll (Christian) Miller teaches chemistry, Medical College of Virginia Hospital. Her husband is a senior at the Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Va.

Jo Anne Craven comm. writes that she is now program secretary for television station KGUL-TV in Galveston, Texas. She is making wedding plans for June.

Ann (Flack) Boseman is living in Columbia, S. C., where her husband is stationed.

Anne (Goudelock) Stone is a physical therapist and her husband is engaged in the farm implement business, Stockton, Calif.

Mary Grace Grady is back in Kinston for a while after resigning her job with the Girl Scouts in Richmond.

Anne Grier is with Special Service in Europe doing recreation work in Army Service Clubs and is stationed at Landshut, Germany.

Betty Jean (Harris) McLean teaches a fourth grade in Victoria, Texas, where her husband is a first lieutenant and jet plane instructor.

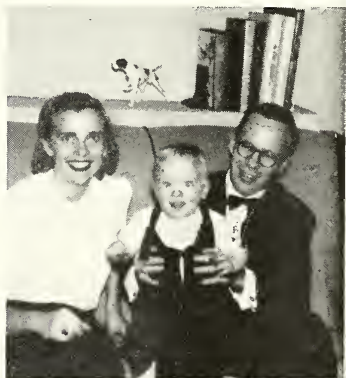

Edith (Hendrix) Horne is home-making in Southern Pines. Her husband is an electrical engineer, Carolina Power and Light Company.

Doris (Hovis) Hudson has been at the Presbyterian Church at Chapel Hill since September and also does secretarial work at Camp New Hope, where her husband is manager while he is taking post graduate work at the University.

Jane Holtzelaw who is in the Personnel Department of the Institute of Living in Hartford, Conn., gives a most interesting account of her work which we pass on to readers of the Alumnae News:

"The Institute of Living is one of the three oldest private mental hospitals in the country, having been founded as the Neuro-psychiatric Hospital of the Hartford Retreat in 1822. It has advanced at a rapid pace since then until today the Institute consists of quite a few buildings and covers thirty-five acres of lovely grounds just outside the main downtown area of Hartford. With the physical advancement has come an advancement in reputation, and there are unlimited opportunities here for coming into contact with some of the nation's top psychiatrists and psychologists.

"Although I was never actively interested in or considering work of the nature found here, I have developed a great deal of enthusiasm and liking for my job since I came. As you are undoubtedly aware, personnel work can be singularly varied and interesting; and although I am beginning on the lower rung of the ladder, so to speak, I expect a great deal from it in the future. I only hope I can contribute the same.

"My job specifically is the responsibility of a great deal of correspondence, a great deal of which is left to my own composition. The Institute has an active recruiting program for psychiatric aides—there are some 350 such young people from all localities, most with some college training or full college training, who are here for six months or a year to gain temporary experience in the field of social work, particularly the field of mental diseases and treatment. I handle, then, applications, acknowledgements, references, and perhaps later will be asked to go on recruiting trips to various colleges and universities in the East.

"As an added interest, I have just completed an intensive two weeks training period to qualify me for part-time psychiatric aide work with the large number and variety of mental patients here. As an aide, I am expected to provide, as much as I can, a therapeutic environment whenever I come in contact with a patient.

"I receive a fair salary with complete maintenance. Living here on the campus with a large number of aides of my own age and relatively of my own background and training, and being associated with a variety of professional personnel enhances the job and provides a well-rounded academic and social life."

Katherine (Johnson) Harden and her husband are living in Chapel Hill, where he is attending the University of North Carolina.

Sara Katherine Jordan is teaching in Fayetteville.

Elizabeth (King) McPherson is assistant home demonstration agent in Alamance County. Her husband is engaged in farming and dairying in Mebane.

Lottie (Matheson) Lassiter's husband is serving as a lieutenant in the U. S. Army, and Lottie is homemaking.

Edith (Mewborn) Babb has been doing substitute teaching in Albany, Ga., where her husband is a jet flyer with the U. S. Army Air Force.

June (Rose) Curtiss writes from Coral Gables, Fla.: "Last year we lived in Ahsokie, where my husband was the band director for the high school there. I taught piano at the school. Now we are living on the campus at the University of Miami while Bill finishes work on his master's degree in music education. I work in the University library five days a week and go to school two nights a week taking a sociology course just for fun. We love the climate down here and go to the beach quite frequently on weekends."

Martha (Smathers) Simpson is a medical technologist, Moore County Hospital, Southern Pines. Her husband is stationed with the U. S. Army at Fort Bragg.

Mary Lillie (Thompson) Lennon teaches a seventh grade in the Bladenboro schools and they make their home in Clarkton.

Anne (Veasey) Koonce is living in Laurinburg and teaching the third grade.

Nancy (Whitley) Estes is a therapeutic dietitian, High Point Memorial Hospital, and her husband is a textile engineer, Burlington Mills.
